

ABSTRACT

An improved lubricant stick for utilization with a constant force spring style stick lubricant applicator for rail wheel flanges. The lubricant stick defining therein a channel for receiving a portion of the constant force spring therein, thereby reducing wear and tear on the constant force spring and providing for a more consistent application of lubricant to the wheel flange.